

A vintage wooden photobooth is the central focus, mounted on a wooden tripod. It features a large, square wooden body with a central lens and a smaller rectangular opening below it. A large, circular, silver-colored reflector is positioned above the main body. The entire setup is placed in a field of tall, dry grass. In the background, a body of water is visible under a dramatic, cloudy sky at sunset or sunrise. A string of warm-toned, glowing string lights runs across the top of the image.
